

CellScribe · curation dossier

striatal parvalbumin-positive GABAergic interneuron

PROPOSE new term · confidence 1.00

1 ground

INPUT

GAD1

GAD2

PVALB

location: striatum · organism: human

CL:0000099

interneuron (genus)

UBERON:0002435

striatum

GO:0009449

GABA biosynth. process

NCBITaxon:9606

Homo sapiens

2 evidence + test

NS-Forest marker panel

GAD2

1.0

PVALB

1.0

GAD1

1.0

F-beta = 1.00 (precision 1.0 · recall 1.0)

Europe PMC 5 papers

GO × marker (QuickGO)

GAD1, GAD2 ← GO:0009449

3 define + classify

LLM-drafted definition · Groq llama-3.3-70b

A cell of the nervous system classified as an interneuron, located in the striatum, characterised by its role in the GABA biosynthetic process; expresses GAD1, GAD2 and PVALB in Homo sapiens.

grounded facts only — the LLM never invents ontology terms

4 ELK reasons over the whole Cell Ontology

ELK places the candidate under its genus and finds NO existing equivalent →

NOVEL — safe to mint

coherent = True · no duplicate in CL v2026-06-08

critic confidence

8 CL-native outputs emitted:
KGCL · MIRACL · SSSOM · ROBOT/OWL · GitHub issue